Free Federal Women's Program Training Seminar offered March 23 & 24

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will sponsor the 25th Annual Federal Women's Program Training Seminar on March 23 and 24, 2005 at the Radisson Hotel in downtown Huntington. The theme of this year's event is "Women Change America."

The seminar is offered free of charge to the public and is open to men and women. It will offer workshops on a variety of topics, including: retirement planning, communication, team building, conflict management and more than a dozen other workshops.

The seminar is being organized by the Equal Employment Opportunity Office.

The keynote speaker will be W. Chris Hinton-Lee, the Director for Regional Business at the Great Lakes and Ohio River Division, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The senior co-chair for the event is Tammy Fudge, and Greta Jackson is the junior co-chair.

Those wanting to attend the seminar will may register on-site at the Radisson Hotel beginning at 11:00am on Wednesday, March 23.

For more information about the seminar or the workshops, contact Linda H. Plumley, Federal Women's Program Manager, at (304) 399-5782 or Tracy D. Baker, Equal Employment Opportunity Manager, at (304) 399-5214.
